

Swans and Geese at Sandhill Farm.

These Trumpeter Swans are probably from the flock that overwinters on the Mississippi River at Monticello. Volunteers feed the flock and make it possible for the swans overwinter. They winter in the open water stream downriver from the Monticello Nuclear Power Plant. The flock has grown to many hundreds over the past 25 years. We see them flying overhead at anytime of the year. Incredibly beautiful birds.

Sarah took this photo. The swans and geese are on one of several beautiful wetlands of Sarah and Jordan's Sandhill Farm. Sandhill Farm is two miles north of our Snake River Farm. Each summer we see mated pairs with cygnets (swan hatchlings) in many local waters. Tom
